

Golden Retriever “Woof”

Margaret Licha

I enjoy creating functional art that people can appreciate and enjoy in their every day lives, decorative tiles that bring warmth, color, texture & whimsy into everyday spaces. My niche, animal designs, not exact representations but a snapshot of their spirit, their quirkiness and joy of life. I have an art degree from Sacramento State University and live in the Sierra Nevada Foothills.

Description: The original design for this relief tile is created out of clay, a plaster mold is made and then all additional tiles are hand pressed from this mold. Additional under-cuts are made, the tile slowly dried, bisqued, stained, glazed and fired for the second and last time. These tiles are created on a low fired clay body and are not suited for outdoor use in areas of winter freezing. The tiles are signed and notched in the back.
